Additional Approvals that may be required prior to commencement of use:

- Residential projects would need to apply for applicable building permits and receive approvals from any required state agency prior to taking occupancy of the dwelling unit.
- Non-residential projects may need Conditional Use approval by the Levy Court prior to construction. Depending on the use and size of the project, this may require an engineered site plan.
- If a conditional use is not required, an engineered site plan would still be required to be approved by the Regional Planning Commission if the use exceeds 5,000 sq. ft. of total impervious coverage.
- If neither a site plan nor a conditional use is required, then a Certificate of Use will be required from the Planning Office.
- Any non-residential project will need a Business Certificate of Occupancy unless the building has already been designed to the current commercial codes. Contact the Division of Inspection and Enforcement for details.
